‘WHAT THE HELL DID I JUST WATCH’ COMEDY VIDEO FESTIVAL OPENING DOORS AGAIN

Comedy Video Festival To Showcase Only Comedy Videos
Without Regard To Production Value; Only Laughs.

SEATTLE, Washington – November 14, 2006 - On January 13th, what one thing could be better than a Monster Truck Show, an erotic Open-Mic Night, and an all-star curling match mixed together, wrapped in bacon, and shot into space? It's the ‘What The Hell Did I Just Watch?’ Comedy Video Festival. The only Seattle based anti-film festival to pander directly to your misguided funny bone.

At 7:00pm and 8:30pm on January 13th and 20th the ‘What The Hell Did I Just Watch?’ Comedy Video Festival will once again showcase the funniest sketch comedy, video shorts, and television pilots from around the world at the Rendezvous Jewel Box Theater in downtown Seattle. Each video will be cherry-picked for its laugh factor and nothing else, therefore making sweet sweet comedy wine.

Some of last year's entrants have gone on to relative fame and fortune. They are:

Aaron Yolonda – Also known as the internet's ‘Chad Vader’

The ‘What The Hell Did I Just Watch’ Video Comedy Festival was started by Seattle based video production group OH! The Humanity. The festival was created to give the truly funny a chance to be seen and turns a blind eye to production value, star power, or marketability. Only the laughter matters.
