'WHAT THE HELL DID I JUST WATCH?' COMEDY

VIDEO FESTIVAL ROCKS DOWNTOWN SEATTLE

Comedy Video Festival Goes For Broke With Laughter

SEATTLE, Washington – December 29, 2006 - On January 13th, the only all comedy anti-film festival revue worth mentioning, or pronouncing, will explode in a radioactive dirty bomb of laughter. Nothing can save them from the deadly dose of comedy poisoning detonated on the screen.

At 7:00pm and 8:30pm on January 13th and 20th the 'What The Hell Did I Just Watch?' Comedy Video Festival will debut a whole new slop of shorts, sketches, and TV pilots at the Rendezvous Jewel Box Theater in downtown Seattle.

With over 100 submissions judged, evaluated and pressed through a fine strainer, each video shown is cherry-picked for its laugh factor and nothing else, making sweet, sweet comedy wine. This festival is ramped up to be bigger, funnier, and more intense than last year's festival; just the thing for that New Year's hangover you're still nursing.

The 'What The Hell Did I Just Watch?' Video Comedy Festival was started by Seattle based video production group OH! The Humanity. The festival was created to give the truly funny a chance to be seen and turns a blind eye to production value, star power, or marketability. Only the laughter matters.
