

David Crosman
Oh The Humanity Productions
(206)337-1695
festival@ohthehum.com

'WHAT THE HELL DID I JUST WATCH?' COMEDY VIDEO FESTIVAL ERUPTS ONTO BIG SCREEN

Comedy Video Festival Explodes With All The Funny

SEATTLE, Washington – January 6, 2007 – Deadly Car Chases, Voluptuous Women, and Machine Gun Shoot-Outs!!! Man, those are cool. But if you're tired of that and just want to laugh then come down to the 'What The Hell Did I Just Watch?' Comedy Video Festival; the only all comedy anti-film festival revue worth mentioning (or pronouncing) and guaranteed to make you shoot various liquids out your nose.

With a unique show each Saturday we've doubled up on our comedy goodness. This years fest include sketches from local Seattle group Black Daisy, the YouTube favorite Chad Vader, and a near-cannibalistic short starring Scrub's star Neil Flynn.

- What: The 'What The Hell Did I Just Watch?' Comedy Video Festival
- Show 1: January 13th, 2007 - 7:00pm and 8:30pm
- Show 2: January 20th, 2007 – 7:00pm and 8:30 pm
- Where: The Rendezvous-Jewelbox Theater in Belltown, Seattle

The 'What The Hell Did I Just Watch?' Video Comedy Festival was started by Seattle based video production group OH! The Humanity. The festival was created to give the truly funny a chance to be seen and turns a blind eye to production value, star power, or marketability. Only the laughter matters.

For more information about the festival please visit <http://www.whatthehelldidijustwatch.com>
For more information about OH! The Humanity please visit <http://www.ohthehum.com>